28th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

This Sunday's readings speak about the gratitude in our relationships with God and with others. And we all know how strong encouragement it is, when people express their gratitude, not because we looked or needed it, but because there is a power in sincere gratitude.

Some people are so strong in their convictions and in their dedication to doing good, that they don't need others to thank them, yet even they are affected by the gratitude of recipients of their charity. Imagine people who are not so strong interiorly, how the lack of gratitude may deprive them of encouragement they needed to continue to do good for others.

Although when we do good for others we should do it not for the sake of praise or reward, but for the sake of goodness in which we believe, otherwise it would be a selfish and self serving act. This is why Jesus said: "when you do good, let your left hand not know what your right hand does ". Or, when you do good do not expect reward for it, so that you may receive your reward in heaven ".

So, Jesus wants us to do good for his sake, as St. Paul said in second reading; -that he takes on suffering for the sake of the Gospel- and again - he can bear hardships for the sake of salvation for others.

But true gratitude for the good received, brings fullness of happiness and joy to the beneficiary. Genuine perception of being blessed wants to give back in gratitude, multiplying the sensation of joy and happiness, creating the sense of love. Gratitude fills the heart with: joy, happiness and love to overflowing, it shows the spiritual maturity of the receiver. Total lack of gratitude and appreciation shows the ignorance, selfishness or arrogance of the receiver.

So ultimately the gratitude benefits both the giver and receiver, and the first reading and the Gospel shows the beauty of gratitude, and the praise due to God for all good things. It brings the grateful person to full blown maturity of love, it makes the good reciprocal as the receiver becomes a giver of good that was found in his heart. Jesus was expecting gratitude as a token of appreciation of what was given freely and undeservedly. Gratitude helps a person to become source of goodness and love, and we all should aspire to it, as we all aspire to be loved. For this reason we want to learn to love others, and the first step towards it is to show recognition and reciprocity of kindness and of love.

Jesus loves us freely with all of his life, but unless we learn to reciprocate his love according to our capacity we will not be truly happy in this life.

Jesus wants us to be happy, he wants us to be able to love ourselves and others as he loves us. Will we correspond ??? What are you grateful for today ???

Gratitude is the beginning of loving back the one that loved us first.

God bless everyone always !!!

Fr. Stan

Queridas Hermanas y Hermanos,

Las lecturas de este Domingo hablan de la gratitud en nuestras relaciones con Dios y con los demás. Y todos sabemos cuan fuerte es el estímulo, cuando las personas expresan su gratitud, no porque lo hayamos visto o necesitado, sino porque hay un poder en la sincera gratitud.

Algunas personas son tan fuertes en sus convicciones y su dedicación para hacer el bien, que no necesitan que otros les den las gracias, pero incluso ellos se ven afectado por la gratitud de los beneficiados de su caridad. Imagina a las personas que no son fuertes interiormente, como la falta de gratitud puede privarlas del aliento que necesitan para seguir haciendo el bien a los demás.

Aunque cuando hacemos el bien a los demás no deberíamos hacerlo por elogios o recompensas, sino por el bien en el que creemos, de lo contrario sería un acto egoísta. Esta es la razón porque Jesús dijo: "cuando haga el bien, no deje que tu mano izquierda sepa lo que hizo tu mano derecha". O, "cuando haces el bien, no esperes recompensa por ello, para que puedas recibir tu recompensa en el cielo". Entonces, Jesús quiere que hagamos el bien por su bien, como dijo San Pablo en la segunda lectura; -que asume el sufrimiento por el bien del Evangelio-y, una vez más , puede soportar las dificultades por la salvación de los demás . Pero la verdadera gratitud por el bien recibido, trae plenitud de felicidad y alegría al beneficiario. La percepción genuina de ser bendecido quiere devolver en gratitud, multiplicando la sensación de alegría y felicidad, creando la sensación de amor. La gratitud llena el corazón de alegría, felicidad y amor al desbordarse, muestra la madurez espiritual del que recibe. La falta total de gratitud y aprecio muestra la ignorancia, el egoísmo o la arrogancia del que recibe amor.

Entonces, en última instancia, la gratitud beneficia tanto al donante como al que recibe, la primera lectura y el Evangelio muestran la belleza de la gratitud y la alabanza que se le debe a Dios por todas las cosas buenas. Hace que la persona agradecida este completamente desarrollada, hace que el bien sea reciproco a medida que el que recibe amor se convierta en un donante del bien que encuentra en su corazón.

Jesús esperaba gratitud como muestra de aprecio por lo que se le dio libremente y sin mérito. La gratitud ayuda a una persona a convertirse en fuente de bondad y amor, y todos debemos aspirar a ella, ya que todos aspiramos a ser amados. Por esta razón, queremos aprender a amar a los demás, y el primer paso para lograrlo es mostrar reconocimiento y reciprocidad de bondad y de amor.

Jesús nos ama libremente con toda su vida, pero a menos que aprendamos a corresponder su amor de acuerdo con nuestra capacidad, no estaremos verdaderamente en esta vida.

Jesús quiere que seamos felices, quiere que podamos amarnos a nosotros mismos y a los demás como el nos ama. ¿

Corresponderemos? ¿De que está agradecido hoy?

La gratitud es el comienzo de amar a quien nos amó primero.

¡¡¡Dios les bendiga a todos!!!

P. Stan

Por favor acompañenos a rezar el Rosario en las afueras de la Iglesia pedido del papa Francisco Octubre 13th a las 4:00p.m.

October is one of our favorite months of the year because the Church sets aside thirty-one days to focus on the Holy Rosary. October 7th is the day designated to honor Our Lady of the Rosary.

This date marks the victory at the Battle of Lepanto for which Saint Pius V gives credit to the Blessed Mother. In 1571, St. Pius V asked all of Europe to rally together by praying the Holy Rosary and begging Mary to intercede for a victory in what appeared to be a hopeless battle. Though the Christians were significantly outnumbered, they miraculously managed to defeat the Turks and save Europe.

All of the glory was given to Our Lady of Victory and attributed to the thousands of people who had joined together in praying the Holy Rosary. St. Pius immediately established a day to commemorate and honor Mary. This later became know as the Feast of the Holy Rosary and we continue to celebrate it in the Church today!

Reconnaissance et ingratitude

Alors qu'il se rendait à Jérusalem, Jésus longea la frontière entre la Samarie et la Galilée. A l'entrée d'un village, dix lépreux vinrent à sa rencontre ; ils s'arrêtèrent à distance et se mirent à le supplier à haute voix : Jésus, Maître, aie pitié de nous ! Jésus les vit et leur dit : Allez-vous montrer aux prêtres ! Pendant qu'ils y allaient, ils furent guéris. L'un d'eux, quand il se rendit compte qu'il était guéri, revint sur ses pas en louant Dieu à pleine voix. Il se prosterna aux pieds de Jésus, face contre terre, et le remercia. Or, c'était un Samaritain. Alors Jésus dit : Ils sont bien dix qui ont été guéris, n'est-ce pas ? Où sont donc les neuf autres ? Il ne s'est donc trouvé personne d'autre que cet étranger pour revenir louer Dieu ? Puis, s'adressant à ce Samaritain, il lui dit : Relève-toi, et va : parce que tu as eu foi en moi, tu es sauvé.
